

Goat Water Is Not What You Think: The Montserrat Island Life of Two Hoosiers and the Volcano That Ended It

Carol Elrod, a reporter for the Indianapolis Star, and her husband Ed decided to chuck it all and settle on the tiny island of Montserrat in the Caribbean. This book details friendships with the friendly islanders, searches for unavailable daily items, contacts with island cookery, rasta and voodoo and the visit of Prince Philip. And finally, when they were hopelessly in love with this island and its culture, the eruption of the volcano which poured ash and molten lava over half the island and covered their home as they fled for their lives.
