

In Deadly Company: Fifty Murderous Men and Women

As the author of many true crime books, Don Lasseter has sometimes been asked to identify and rank the worst of the worst murderers. Considering the stunning variety of bloodthirsty methods used by these perps, and the horrific toll of victims, it would be difficult. Instead, in this book, he has profiled fifty of the most heinous killers in modern history for readers to discover and make their own rankings. Photos of each criminal are included, many in full color. This text provides handy references for serious crime aficionados. The narratives reveal more than 600 known victims losing their lives to merciless butchers!! Exact counts are undoubtedly much higher since no one knows precisely how many terrified individuals were snuffed out by Ted Bundy, Randy Kraft, John Wayne Gacy and several others. Kraft was convicted of 16 murders, but suspected of perhaps 100. Lasseter has been a frequent guest on various television crime documentaries, plus talk shows and radio and has been featured in numerous periodicals.
